EYEON GROUP AB (publ): Multiple successful White Label and API Launches for Eyeon Group

During the spring, Eyeon Group has carried out several successful launches of new White Label and API solutions in collaboration with strategic partners. The company can now confirm that several of these partnerships are already showing strong results, with a steady month-on-month increase in the number of end customers.

"We are very pleased and proud of the extensive work our integration team has carried out over the winter and spring. Through close collaboration with our new partners, we have been able to ensure stable and successful launches. The growing influx of end customers clearly shows that our product meets a real market need," says Fredrik Björklund, CEO of Eyeon Group AB.

The company's strategy of combining technical flexibility with a high level of service has proven to be a winning concept. Through both White Label solutions and flexible API integrations, Eyeon Group has succeeded in attracting a growing portfolio of partners, who in turn have been able to quickly bring their services to market.

"We see this as clear evidence that our technology and offering are right for the times. Our focus going forward is to continue delivering high quality, technical stability, and strong business value to our customers and partners," Björklund continues.

Eyeon Group views the development positively and expects additional launches in the coming quarters, while existing partnerships are being scaled up in line with the addition of new features and improvements.
