Urb-it, the rapidly growing sustainable logistics platform, today announces it is rolling out its services in London with Evri, the largest dedicated parcel delivery company in the UK.

Following commencing the partnership in Manchester and Liverpool, Urb-it and Evri have decided to launch operations in London, a city in which Urb-it is expanding its footprint to reach a total of 8 million customers.

Kevin Kviblad, CEO of Urb-it, comments:

"I'm delighted to see this partnership continuing to evolve. Launching in London with Evri is a major opportunity to keep executing on our strategy, growing the business and improving the delivery volume density. Furthermore, we all know the challenges that London faces in terms of liveability and sustainability. I'm proud to be part of the solution, together with Evri".
