

Announcing the K33 Vinter Quality Index

Stockholm 16 February 2023

Arcane Crypto AB's subsidiary k33.com has developed a crypto reference index together with Vinter, a crypto index provider.

K33 will develop and offer financial products and portfolios tracking the index. The reference index will be broadly available on financial platforms like Bloomberg and Refinitiv, while the assessment reports will be available on the K33 platform. The index will be rebalanced quarterly and Vinter, as a licensed index provider, will be responsible for calculating and distributing the index.

K33 has developed a quality filter and a framework to systematically assess the top 30 cryptocurrencies. The K33 Vinter Quality Index (KVQ) is a smart beta index for crypto assets. The index consists of an equal-weighted mix of the most promising tokens amongst the top 30 crypto assets. The quality filter consists of five key criteria: (1) Persistent network effects, (2) Use, (3) Regulatory risk, (4) Ecosystem size and liveness, and (5) Inflation schedule and ownership concentration. Tokens with a low long term survival-probability are excluded, contributing to a substantial reduction in downside risk in the index.

According to Torbjørn Bull Jenssen, K33 CEO: "Digital assets are emerging as a new asset class, and there are a lot of interesting investment opportunities in the space. By following and later investing in the K33 Vinter Quality Index, investors can obtain a robust and diversified exposure while benefiting from our industry expertise, avoiding weak projects which otherwise would have been a part of a naive top 30 index."

Jacob Lindberg, CEO of Vinter, adds "We are pleased to be partnering with K33 as their preferred index provider. Arcane - the precursor to K33 - is globally renowned for their high-quality research. I learn something new about crypto every time I speak with the team or read their research. As the index provider of choice, Vinter will help them leverage this research to offer investors interesting exposures. Our crypto quality index is the perfect way to start our partnership."

The K33 Vinter Quality Index is live on Bloomberg and Refinitiv with the ticker "KVQ".
