

AAC Clyde Space appoints Håkan Tribell as Head of Communications for Investor Relations and Public Affairs

2024-10-28 AAC Clyde Space AB (publ)

AAC Clyde Space has recruited communications expert Håkan Tribell to the newly created position as Head of Communications for Investor Relations and Public Affairs.

“Bringing Håkan Tribell on board strengthens our relationships with shareholders and stakeholders. His expertise in building robust stakeholder networks and communication abilities is crucial for continued growth as a strong, profitable and expanding New Space company”, says Luis Gomes, CEO of AAC Clyde Space.

Håkan brings extensive experience in communications and public affairs within both the business sector and politics. He previously worked at the Stockholm Chamber of Commerce, served as Director of Ideas at the think tank Timbro, and has also been a speechwriter for Ulf Kristersson, the current Prime Minister of Sweden.

“Technological advancements are driving rapid changes throughout the entire space industry. What excites me most about the company is the positive impact we can have on planet Earth. The data our satellites provide offers, among other things, unique opportunities to understand weather patterns, enhance forestry management, and optimize maritime shipping. These advancements are crucial for both people and the climate,” says Håkan Tribell.

Håkan Tribell will assume his new role on January 7, 2025, and will primarily be based at the Uppsala office in Sweden.
